PRINCIPAL'S MESSAGE

Excitement has reached fever pitch in regards to the filming of our school concert that will take place on Thursday. The weather forecast is favourable at this stage. On Wednesday, we will be doing a whole school 'dry-run' (without costumes) in preparation for the main event. Huge thank you to our tremendous P&C, Mrs Ritchie, our wonderful staff and fantastic children/performers for enabling this stellar event to materialise in spite of the Covid situation. Unfortunately parents/family members are unable to attend the filming of the concert on Thursday!

➤ AFTER SCHOOL FUN

Slime, trick or treats and treasure hunts oh my!

➤ HEALTH ADVICE

Head Lice

We have had a few reports of head lice at school this week. Can everyone please check their children and treat if necessary.

At a glance:-

- They don't care if the hair is short or long, clean or dirty.
- The best and cheapest way to remove them is with inexpensive conditioner and a nit comb.
- You will need to re-treat your kids several times before all the eggs will be gone.

For more information on treatment you can visit the NSW Governments website at:

<http://www.health.nsw.gov.au/environment/headlice/Pages/treatment.aspx>

Fun House with Shorty and Gretchen

➤ HEALTH ADVICE

There have been a number of parents advising they have had to treat their children for worms, please see health advice below.

Worms

There are many different types of intestinal worms, but the most common is threadworm (also called pinworm). Threadworm is a type of roundworm that is commonly found in preschool and school-aged children, however the whole family can become infected.

Threadworm causes a very itchy bottom, which is usually worse at night. If your child is infected with threadworm, it is not usually serious and can be treated easily with medication.

Signs and symptoms of threadworm

If your child has threadworm, they may:

- have an itchy bottom, which may become red and inflamed from scratching
- be irritable and generally 'out of sorts'
- not sleep very well
- have a reduced appetite.

In girls, there may also be redness and itching around the vaginal area.

How is threadworm spread?

Threadworm gets its name because the worms look like white threads, which are about 1cm long. The worms live in the lower intestine, but they come out of the anus over night to lay their eggs in the area between the buttocks, which causes your child's bottom to feel very itchy. It is estimated that one female threadworm can lay up to 16,000 eggs.

Threadworm is spread when children scratch their bottom, causing the eggs to collect under the fingernails. The child then carries the worm eggs back to their mouth with their hands. The eggs can also be spread indirectly, in food, dust, or other items. The eggs can survive up to two weeks outside the body.

Once your child swallows threadworm eggs, the eggs hatch in your child's small intestine and the worms travel down to their anus.

You cannot catch threadworm from animals.

Care at home

You can talk to a pharmacist about over-the-counter treatment options.

Treat all the family members at the same time, even if they aren't showing any symptoms. Adults can also get threadworm.

When to see a doctor

If you have tried a threadworm treatment for your child and their symptoms have not improved, take them to your GP. The doctor will examine your child and may want to do blood or faeces (poo) tests. Also take your child to the GP if:

- your child passes a large worm
- they have abdominal pain, nausea, vomiting or low energy levels.

Key points to remember

- Threadworm is common in preschool and school-aged children.
- Threadworm causes very annoying itching in the area between a child's buttocks.
- It's easy to treat threadworm with the right medication.
- There are precautions to prevent threadworm spreading and reinfecting.
